

National Highways want to know if you experience congestion, have safety concerns and where you see opportunities for better facilities, for example this could be on the A11 or A47.

Highways England want to hear your views on the issues and opportunities on motorways and major A-roads in England. For example, they want to know where you regularly experience congestion or safety concerns, or where you see opportunities for better facilities. This information will be considered alongside other evidence and engagement to build a picture on future investment opportunities.
